

Are you looking for volunteers?

uOttawa students can support you in many ways from a distance. Here are some ideas for remote or virtual volunteer placements:

BREAKING ISOLATION IN A CONTEXT OF SOCIAL DISTANCING

- Call your members/clients to break the isolation and check up on them;
- Help organize and facilitate virtual group meetings on different themes (e.g., teaching your members how to shop or refill their prescriptions online);
- Help set up a remote support program (e.g. matching students and seniors or vulnerable people).

ADMINISTRATIVE SUPPORT

- Assist with programming or administrative tasks (e.g. preparing briefing notes or correspondence);
- Write surveys, collect data and compile results;
- Assist by answering general questions from the public by e-mail or telephone;

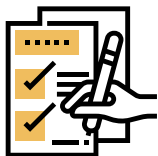

COMMUNICATIONS AND PUBLIC ENGAGEMENT

- Translation of documentation, communications, website content or other
- Assist with the implementation of fundraising strategies, find sponsors and write grant applications;
- Assist in implementing an online public awareness or engagement campaign
- Contribute to the development and adaptation of planning strategies and tools for marketing, communications, social networks (e.g. awareness campaigns, educational materials or presentations).

SUPPORT FOR DISTANCE LEARNING (EDUCATION)

- Prepare communications to parents and students and accompany students who need more personalized support in their learning (e.g. tutoring);
- Develop fun or educational activities and facilitate access to online school materials;
- Help families with technical problems (e.g. using online tools).

PROGRAM PLANNING, IMPLEMENTATION AND EVALUATION

- Assist in the review of services and the transition to an online or remote program;
- Contribute to the development of policies and procedures (e.g. health and safety, emergency measures, government recommendations);
- Conduct research, analysis or evaluation and produce reports.

Our placement officers are ready to support you with your needs and in this transition. Do not hesitate to contact us.

servingothers@uOttawa.ca

uOttawa

Centre Michaëlle-Jean pour l'engagement mondial et communautaire

Michaëlle Jean Centre for Global and Community Engagement